Quantum Advisory appoints Anne-Marie Gillon as Principal Investment Consultant within Fiduciary Management Oversight Team

Quantum Advisory, the leading pensions and employee benefits consultancy for small and medium sized schemes and employers, today announced the appointment of Anne-Marie Gillon as Principal Investment Consultant within its Fiduciary Management Oversight team. The team is dedicated to delivering clear, independent insight into the fiduciary management market to asset owners and trustees.

Amanda Burdge, Partner and Head of Investment at Quantum Advisory, commented:

“Fiduciary Management can be a complex landscape for trustees to navigate – with often subtle, but important, differences in definitions, scope, service offerings and, crucially, value and outcomes. With trustees already managing a broad range of responsibilities we’ve seen growing demand for our Fiduciary Management services from those seeking support across all aspects of selection, review and oversight. In response, we continue to expand our team with expert professionals. Anne-Marie will provide valuable insight into, and oversight of, fiduciary management providers.

“Anne-Marie’s passion and expertise make her an excellent addition for our clients, our team and the wider firm. We’re excited to work with her as we continue to grow this important area of our practice.”

Paul Francis, Principal Investment Consultant and Head of Fiduciary Management Oversight, commented:

“Anne-Marie’s knowledge of the Fiduciary Management market stands for itself. I have no doubt that the positive impacts our team has made through delivering value-add advice to our clients, powered by technological innovation, will be accelerated further by having Anne-Marie on board.”

Anne-Marie Gillon, Principal Investment Consultant at Quantum Advisory, added:

“Quantum is renowned within the industry as a trusted partner, dedicated to delivering exceptional service to trustees and employers. It was important for me to join a firm with both the vision and capability to make an impact across the sector, Quantum is doing exactly that with fiduciary management selection and oversight. I’m excited to work with such a strong team to further develop and enhance this offering.”

Anne-Marie has over 30 years’ experience in the investment industry within asset management and as a consultant advising trustees on fiduciary management and governance matters. Anne-Marie is also an accredited pension trustee.
