Cartwright launches 2026 Bitcoin Review

UK – [22 October 2026] – Cartwright Pension Trusts, the pension specialist for defined benefit and hybrid schemes, today published its second annual Bitcoin Review, providing pension trustees, investors and advisers with a practical assessment of how Bitcoin has evolved over the past year.

Cartwright: The Bitcoin Review 2026 examines what has happened in Bitcoin over the past year, where it stands today and what comes next. It covers developments in regulation, institutional and sovereign adoption, corporate balance sheets, energy use and the wider monetary backdrop, alongside Bitcoin's price and adoption and the different routes available to investors seeking exposure.

Arash Nasri, Senior Investment Consultant, at Cartwright Pension Trusts, said: "Bitcoin is becoming increasingly difficult for institutional investors to ignore. We are seeing developments across regulation, access, sovereign adoption and corporate adoption that would have seemed very different just a few years ago. For pension trustees, that does not mean that Bitcoin should necessarily form part of a scheme's portfolio. But, it does mean they need to understand what is happening, consider the potential implications for their scheme and be comfortable with the reasons for either taking an interest or deciding that it is not appropriate.

"We hope this year's review gives investors the information and context they need to understand how Bitcoin has developed, assess its relevance to their portfolios and make informed decisions about what, if anything, they want to do next."

The Bitcoin Review 2026 is intended as an educational resource for pension trustees, investors and advisers and other organisations, including charity trustees, seeking to understand the opportunities, risks and wider implications of Bitcoin.

Note to Editors:

Experience, people and a pioneering spirit is what sets them apart.

This year marks Cartwright's 40th anniversary in business. And with it, a celebration of the four decades they've spent honing their unique skillset to become the trusted constant for trustees and sponsors of small to medium defined benefit and hybrid pension trusts - an often badly-catered-for market.

They are proud to offer the level of service usually reserved for the big players; innovative, professional and totally bespoke. And, with direct access to a real person, an expert in their field.

Today, Cartwright has over 150 clients nationwide who rely on their actuarial, administration, investment, secretarial and governance services to keep them ahead of the curve.

And, that same pioneering spirit remains as they branch into new markets; applying their unique know-how to sectors of a similar nature and with similar problems; Charitable Trusts, Corporate Treasury, Employee Rewards and Funeral Trusts.
